Description:

Duties will include survey, testing, evaluation, data recovery, and construction monitoring, as well as other tasks as assigned. This person will report to offices in the western United States. This individual will assist senior archaeologists in monitoring of archaeological resources, fieldwork, laboratory analysis and preparation of technical reports and environmental documents.

The position requires a B.A. or an M.A. in anthropology (emphasis in archaeology) and at least 2-4 years of experience. Candidates must be able to demonstrate at least one year of field experience in archaeological survey and reconnaissance. Knowledge of computers and GPS equipment is critical.

Background in prehistoric archaeology required; additional experience in historic archaeology is a plus, as is prior experience in Nevada, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and/or Wyoming. Ability to conduct fieldwork and travel is required. Position requires artifact analyses, keeping of field notes and records, and writing key sections of reports (methods, analyses, results). Excellent verbal and written communication skills required, as is a firm understanding of Section 106, and CEQA and NEPA as it pertains to cultural resources.

ICF offers an excellent benefits package, an award winning talent development program, and fosters a highly skilled, energized and empowered workforce.

ICF International is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer M/F/D/V
