

Adelphi University - Position: Anthropology Department Tenure-Track Assistant Professor, Fall 2010

Written by Gaëtan Juillard
Friday, 11 December 2009 04:13 -

---

Location: Garden City, NY
Job Posted: October 21, 2009

The Adelphi University Department of Anthropology invites applicants for a North American archaeologist, trained in four-field approach, with research and teaching interests in New World prehistory and environmental archaeology focus to teach archaeology courses at all undergraduate levels, conduct archaeological fieldwork, laboratory analysis, and engage students in research projects. Ability to offer graduate Environmental Studies Program courses preferred.

Ph.D., excellence in teaching, record of publication, active research program and commitment to involve students in research required. Expectation to develop/maintain program of fundable research and publication.

Apply online at: <http://www.adelphi.edu/positions/faculty> . AA/EEO