

Research Grants Academic year 2012 – 2013

Every year, the musée du quai Branly offers pre- and post-doctoral grants to help doctoral students and young Ph.D. graduates in pursuing innovative research projects.

The academic fields concerned are: anthropology, ethnomusicology, art history, history, archaeology, sociology, performance studies.

The research topics concerned are: Western and non-Western arts, material and immaterial heritage, museum institutions and their collections, technology, ritual and material culture.

The projects most likely to benefit from the environment of the musée du quai Branly will be examined with particular attention.

Laureates will be required to deliver a detailed scientific report to the museum's research department at the end of the grant.

Predocctoral grants

Three predoctoral fellowships are offered to help doctoral students write up their dissertation; candidates must be at least in the third year of their doctoral program during the academic year 2011-2012 (in a university in France or abroad). The grant is not designed to fund fieldwork or archival research.

The predoctoral grants are limited to a period of 12 months (non renewable). They consist of a monthly allowance which in 2011 was of 1 300 Euros net. They are awarded once the Museum's Scientific Committee has assessed and selected applications. There is no condition of nationality.

Postdoctoral grants

This year, the musée du quai Branly offers five postdoctoral fellowships to young scholars who would like to work on a research project hosted by the musée. One of these fellowships is funded by Mrs. Nahed Ojeh, major benefactor of the Société des Amis du musée du quai Branly.

The postdoctoral grants are limited to a period of 12 months (non renewable). They consist of monthly allowance which in 2011 was of 1 700 Euros net. They are awarded once the Museum's Scientific Committee has assessed and selected applications. There is no condition of nationality. Applicants may apply for this grant for up to five years after their dissertation defense.
